

So Brave

I will never forget that awful day,
When dementia came to take you away,
All those memories, all those years,
Running down my face, now as tears,
Why is this life, oh so cruel,
Trying to turn you into Demmentia`s fool,
But above it all, you stood tall,
When dementia, came to call,
Every day you stood and fought,
So determined, not to be caught,
Its all this, we will remember,
When looking back, on life`s embers,
How brave you were in dementia`s Face,
Never slowing to its pace,
So goodbye my love, see you soon,
On the bright side of the moon
