

"I FOUND AN ORCHID WHILE SEARCHING FOR A ROSE"

(Stan Berg's Revision of the Carl Smith' 1950 Lyrics)

--

I found an Orchid while searching for a Rose
The Orchid that I found dear June was you
The Orchid is a flower that blooms so tenderly.
And thrills the fairest ladies of the land
While the rose is a flower of love and romance
When placed beside the Orchid...
The Rose could not compare...

--

I found an Orchid while searching for a rose
The Orchid that I found dear June was you
The Roses I had been searching for
All proved to be untrue
The Orchid that I found dear June was you
While the roses have all lost their color my orchid June remained the same...

--

I found an Orchid while searching for a rose
The Orchid that I found dear June was you
June is now in Heaven as we face the future years
But someday heaven's wonders will all erase my tears
I found an Orchid while searching for a Rose
That Orchid dear June was you...

Check out Stan's website which is a tribute to his wife June who lived with dementia and has since passed away. junebergalzheimers.com